PROFILE

Hi, I'm Rohith Kumar — a passionate developer who loves crafting clean, responsive, and user-friendly web applications. I specialize in building modern front-end experiences using Next.js, Tailwind CSS, and UI libraries like Radix UI and Shadcn/UI. When I'm not coding, I enjoy exploring new tech trends, improving my design skills, and diving into automation testing with Playwright and Cucumber.

EXPERIENCE

Sales Professional

American Tourister

2014 – present

I have 10 years of experience working as a Salesman at an American Tourister luggage store. During this time, I have developed strong skills in customer service, product knowledge, sales, and customer relationship management. I enjoy understanding customers' needs, helping them choose the right luggage, and providing a positive shopping experience. My experience has taught me the importance of communication, patience, and achieving sales goals.
